A Kabbalistic Tu B'Shevat Seder for Adults
Tuesday, January 30 • 7 pm

Tu B'Shevat has taken on many new and modern meanings, each of which has added new layers. This seder will follow closely the original, traditional Kabbalistic seder. Kabbalists understand an upside-down tree to be a metaphor for the way that God's light flows into the world. Through ritual, song, meditation and food, the seder seeks to celebrate the ten sephirot (aspects of God) through which God's blessings flow and to bring that shefa (flow) down upon ourselves to cause our lives and world to blossom. No knowledge of Kabbalah is necessary. The seder includes four glasses of wine, fruits, nuts and a sumptuous dessert.

$10 per person (program subsidized in part by the Weingold Adult Learning Fund). RSVP to the synagogue office.

Dvar Torah

Matthew Nelson, Conservative Yeshiva Student & Lishma Fellow

This week's parasha tells the story of the last three plagues (locusts, darkness, and the slaying of the first born), Moses' instructions regarding the Passover sacrifice, and Pharaoh ultimately granting permission for the Israelites to leave. While some see this as Pharaoh and Egypt getting their just desserts after the years of harsh slavery and child-murder imposed on the Israelites, I am nevertheless troubled.

The parasha opens with two verses that sum up the story of the Exodus nicely: "Then God said to Moses: 'Come to Pharaoh for I have hardened his heart and the heart of his courtiers, in order that I may display these My signs among them. And that you may recount in the hearing of your sons and of your sons' sons how I dealt harshly of the Egyptians and how I displayed My signs among them in order that you may know that I am the Lord" (Exodus 10:1-2). The medieval French commentator, Rashi (1040-1105 CE), explains that the Hebrew phrase, "התעללתי במצרים", translated above as, "I dealt harshly with the Egyptians," should be read as "שחקתי" - meaning, "I have made a mockery".

So according to the medieval French commentator Rashi (1040-1105), God hardens Pharaoh's heart, and the heart of his courtiers, so that we can see God making a mockery of the Egyptians? Could it be that God wants us to experience schadenfreude - to laugh, cheer, and take pleasure in the suffering of our oppressors?

Rabbi Kalonymus Kalman Shapiro (1889-1943 CE), also known as the Piacezna Rebbe, takes issue with this in his book the Aish Kodesh, written in the Warsaw Ghetto during the horrors of the Shoah. Writing under conditions reminiscent of the Egypt, and facing Nazi oppressors as arrogant and cruel as Pharaoh, the Piacezna Rebbe was nevertheless bothered by the idea that God would make the punishment of the wicked some kind of entertainment.

He brings a story from the Talmud that discusses the drowning of the Egyptians in Sea of Reeds: "At that time the ministering angels requested to recite a song before the Holy One, Blessed be God. The Holy One, Blessed be God, Said to them: 'My handiwork are drowning in the sea, and you are reciting a song before Me?!'" (Sanhedrin 39b). The Piacezna Rebbe sees a contradiction: God makes a show of punishing the Egyptians with the plagues, but then scolds the angels for enjoying the show when the Egyptians drown in the sea!

According to the Piacezna Rebbe, there are only two reasons to celebrate the downfall of the Egyptians, and the suffering of the wicked in general. The first is that it leads to knowledge of God. The plagues were done so that WE would know God, as it says in 10:2: "In order that you may know that I am the Lord." And the Egyptians were drowned in the Red Sea so that THEY would know God, as it says in Exodus 14:4: "and the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord". Evil and falsehood must be defeated so that God and truth can be known.

The second reason is to alleviate the suffering of the innocent. Presumably the ministering angels were just as happy about the plagues as the drowning of the Egyptians in the sea, but God only scolds them for celebrating the drowning. The Piacezna Rebbe explains that: "in truth Israel was not suffering at that exact moment [when the sea ceased to part and the Egyptians were drowned] so the Holy One, Blessed be He was not happy from their [the Egyptians] downfall" (Aish Kodesh). Celebrating the Egyptians' drowning was gratuitous. The suffering of some is often necessary to alleviate the suffering of others, but that makes it no less tragic.

As we look forward to the casting down of false idols and the defeat of wicked oppressors, may we all remember the Piacezna Rebbe's example and message. We are all God's handiwork.

Table Talk by Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

We continue with the last 3 plagues, the preparation for the night when God will sweep across Egypt, and for the Exodus itself. The parasha ends with commandments commemorating this formative event.

1) After 7 plagues (in the previous parasha) Pharaoh's servants tell him to let the people go and worship their God lest Egypt be destroyed (10:7-11). Does Pharaoh listen to them? How do you understand his answer to Moshe and Aaron?

2) The first plague in our parasha is the locust (10:12-20). What is the great threat in this plague? (Today, this sort of situation gets the cooperation of all the countries in the region, regardless of politics.)

3) The last plague, the killing of the first born (11:4-8, 12:29-30), seems to break from the pattern established by the other plagues. How does it differ from the rest? Why do you think that God did not start with this last plague, which might have eliminated the need for the rest?

4) In preparation to leave the Israelites are told to take a sheep that they will eat together in a special manner. Think: Why is eating a sheep a special event? 8:22 and Bamidbar (Numbers) 11:5 might help you understand the place of the sheep in Egypt and in the life of the slaves.

5) The Israelites are asked to put the blood of the sheep on the doorposts of the houses in which they are eating (12:7-13). For whom is the blood? (God does not need a sign.) God says 'I will see the blood and pass over you' (12:13). What do you think that God will see/realize that will cause God to pass over those houses?

We welcome your children in the Main Sanctuary!

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Shalom (216-831-6555 ext. 104 or dianeshalom@bnaijeshurun.org) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names from their seats.

Kiddush or Oneg Sponsorships

Sponsorships are acknowledged in the Shabbat handout and in Tidings. The cost of a kiddush is $500 and an oneg is $250; partial sponsorships are available and they are tax deductible.
