Shloshim Tanakh Study for Rabbi Michael Hecht <sup>ב"ר</sup>
Sunday, February 12 • 4:30 pm • BJC

Please join us in a special shloshim study in memory and honor of our beloved teacher and spiritual guide, Rabbi Michael Hecht<sup>ב"ר</sup>. Rabbi Hecht's favorite texts to teach were the stories in Nevi-im Rishonim, the early prophets. We will each study different sections of these texts - in Hebrew or English, with or without commentary, so that collectively we will have completed studying all of this section of the Tanakh. Those who feel more ambitious may also choose to sign up to study all of the early prophets rather than just one section. The choice is yours.

Please sign up for a section of prophets (sections range from 7 to 11 chapters in length). Please look for a section not yet taken first. Once all sections are taken, feel free to choose to be an additional learner for a section already taken. (Those doing all of early prophets can sign up alongside others from the beginning. You will see that choice at the end). You may sign up and study with us whether or not you are able to attend the shloshim gathering. Sign up at tinyurl.com/RabbiHecht.

We ask that you complete your reading/learning by Sunday, February 12. We will gather to share in a siyyum marking the completion of our studies. At that gathering, there will be teaching, reflections and speeches followed by some light food, dessert and drinks. RSVP to the synagogue office.

Thanks for helping us honor Rabbi Hecht in a way that we know would be most meaningful to him! May his memory always be for a blessing.

Technology in the Exodus from Egypt by Rabbi Daniel Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty and Coordinator, Torah Sparks

In Parshat Va'era Operation Exodus from Egypt gets underway, beginning with the confrontation between Moses and Aaron on one side and Pharaoh and his team on the other. Seven of the Ten Plagues take place this week, and, as in the modern world, technology plays an important part in the struggle.

Before the Ten Plagues we have a "promo" - God tells Moses and Aaron to cast the rod before Pharaoh and it shall become a serpent (Ex. 7:8-10). When they do, not only is Pharaoh unimpressed; he summons his wise men and sorcerers (chachamim u'mechashfim), and chartumei mitsraim, the Egyptian magicians, do the same thing (turn rods into serpents) "b'lahateihem, with their spells." Moses and Aaron have the last word - "Aaron's rod swallowed their rods." But Pharaoh evidently was not impressed; "his heart stiffened and he would not listen to them" (7:11-13).

The first plague is, of course, dam, blood - Aaron strikes the waters of the Nile when Pharaoh and his court (kol avadav) are watching, and the Nile turns to blood, the fish die and stink. But when the Egyptian magicians do the same, "with their spells" again, Pharaoh just stiffens his heart and goes home paying no heed - v'lo shat libo gam l'zot (7:20-23). He is satisfied with technological parity.

The second plague is tsfardeya, frogs, moving from the river and lakes into people's lives and homes, into their beds and ovens, no less (7:28). As before the chartumim use their spells, bringing their frogs upon the land of Egypt (8:3). Of course the Egyptian "technology" is counterproductive; it does not diminish the impact of the plague Moshe and Aaron are inflicting on Egypt. In fact it intensifies it and the misery of the Egyptian people, which is why Pharaoh calls on Moshe here to stop the plague. If the people on the home front are suffering, he has a real problem.

With the third plague, kinim (lice or vermin) there is a strategic development - the Egyptian magicians try their spells to produce kinim, as Aaron had done, "v'lo yachlu - but they couldn't do it" (8:13-14). At which point they tell Pharaoh, "etsba Elohim hu, this is the finger of God" (8:15). The chartumim, the professional rank, realize that the technology of Bnei Yisrael is not only better, but that it is Divine. However Pharaoh, the politician with the personal ego at stake, does not yet get it. "Don't confuse me with facts." He proceeds ahead, despite the advice of his advisors, not the last time national leaders have so conducted themselves, with their people paying the price.

The chartumim are now out of the picture - Pharaoh's military technology is no match for God's finger. But we meet them one more time, in the sixth plague, schin (boils). "...boils broke out on man and beast." But the magicians were unable even to stand before Moshe, because they, like the rest of the Egyptians, were suffering "from the inflammation breaking out in boils" (9:10-11). Not only could they not prevent the plague or even duplicate it themselves, they were powerless to protect themselves from it. Ramban (Nachmanides) adds another reason why they could not stand before Moses; "they were too ashamed and embarrassed even to leave their houses." Their professional failure was likely a greater cause of shame to them than the skin inflammations.

Table Talk by Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

Moshe tells the people that God plans to take them out of the slavery to the land promised to their ancestors. In the meantime, God sends 7 plagues to Egypt (for the last 3, come back next week) but Pharaoh does not let the people go.

1) God says that He had a covenant with the forefathers to give them the land of Canaan in which they lived, and He has heard the cries of the people (6:2-8). To what extent is the salvation of the children of Israel in Egypt a function of their own merit? What might this tell us about their state in Egypt?

2) Moshe seems to feel that his mission so far has been a failure. To what does he attribute the failure (6:12)? Moshe has mentioned a similar problem in the past (4:10). How might his description help us with understanding the difficulty he suffers from?

3) In this Parasha we read about 7 of the 10 plagues. The first 2 plagues effect the Nile river (7:15-8:3). Why do you think that God chooses to target the Nile, making its waters undrinkable or the source of trouble (frogs)?

4) Egypt's magicians are able to replicate the first 2 plagues (7:22, 8:3-4). What result does their action have on Pharaoh? In the 3rd plague they try to rid the land of the lice. How does this differ from their previous actions? How successful are they? How do they explain this to Pharaoh (8:14-15)?

5) In the fifth plague a sickness kills the livestock of the Egyptians but does not affect any of the Israelites (9:1-7). Why was it important to state this distinction in this plague, even before it started?

Are you interested in getting more involved in the synagogue? The annual Board of Trustees selection process is underway and we are always looking for interested members to serve on the board and support our mission. There are a number of openings this year for the 2017-2018 board, serving a three year term. If you are interested in being part of our community and helping to set our direction for the present and future, please contact Jay Ross for more details. We do need to hear from you by the end of January, so call today if you have the time and energy to make a difference!

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.
