Shabbat Shalom! (To the Tune of Cheap Thrills)

Come on, come on, turn the radio off
It's Friday night and it won't be long
Gotta do my hair, I put my Kippah on
It's Friday night, gotta sing my song

When I go to Temple
Hit the Temple
I got all I need
Got my siddur
Got Hashem for sure
Cause its Shabbat baby

Baby I don't need TV shows to have fun tonight (Shabbat Shalom!)
Baby I don't need TV shows to have fun tonight (Shabbat Shalom!)
Cause I just light the candles (More than Grape juice, Challah too!)
As long as I say Kiddush (More than Grape juice, Challah too!)
I just say Hamotzi (More than Grape juice, Challah too!)
I'll just keep on praying...(Friday night! Shabbat Shalom!)

Havdallah & WhirlyBall

Saturday, November 5 • 7:30 – 10:00 pm

Following havdallah, take part in one of the best games in Cleveland. WhirlyBall is a combination of jai alai, basketball and hockey, using a bumper car just like you would see at an amusement park. The cost is only $15 and this will cover your entrance fee and nosh. A cash bar will be available. RSVP on our Facebook page. ATID is our 20s and 30s group.

Review of High Holy Day Schechter Services

Monday, November 14 • 7:30 pm • Halpern Hall

Come share what you like about the current B'nai Jeshurun High Holy Day services at Gross Schechter Day School and what creative ideas might make them better. We will discuss length, liturgy, melodies and more. No RSVP necessary.

Get Out The Vote Canvassing

Sunday, November 6 • 1:45 - 6:00 pm

Shiloh Baptist Church (5500 Scovill Ave, Cleveland)

Join B'nai Jeshurun as we work with GCC to increase voter turnout, identify new potential leaders, build relationships with individuals and institutions, and gain recognition for GCC throughout Cuyahoga County.

Now is the Time: Justice and Jobs in Greater Cleveland

Thursday, November 17 • 7:00 - 8:30 pm (please arrive by 6:45 pm)

Olivet Institutional Baptist Church (8712 Quincy Ave., Cleveland)

Hear from our newly elected officials and focus on how they can work with us to create positive change on GCC's top priorities of education, jobs, criminal justice, sustainable food and gun violence. A large turn-out is essential in order to have an impact! We need 50 delegates from B'nai Jeshurun to help us take a stand and make our voices heard as we stand united with all the organizations in the (GCC).

RSVP for either or both of these events to Jeanne Shatten (jeanne.shatten@gmail.com) or to carpool/caravan.

Chesed Goes to the Kosher Food Pantry

Sunday, November 20 • 9:30 - 11:30 am

Help pack produce and food that will go to Jewish families in the Cleveland area. This is a wonderful mitzvah and a great family opportunity. Children over the age of 12 (with an adult) can volunteer. Contact Shani Kadis. The food pantry is located at 2004 S. Green Rd., Cleveland, OH 44121.

Operation Warm-Up

We are partnering with NCJW during the months of November and December for this community-wide collection of winter clothing items for those in need. Please place new or gently used items in the bin in Gross Atrium. They have specifically requested the following:

- Adult waterproof coats, gloves, boots and hoodies
- Winter hats for men, women and children
- Unopened packages of socks and underwear for all ages

Sizes Large, XL and XXL are greatly needed!

B'nai Jeshurun Congregation Presents
Weingold Guest Scholar Weekend • November 11 - 13

Friday, November 11

6:00 pm Service

7:00 pm Shabbat dinner ($18 per adults; $10 per child under 12 years of age; $50 family maximum; RSVP by November 7.)

8:00 pm Reading Biblical Narrative - An introduction to the narrative procedures that are specific to the Bible, with illustrations of how to look for them and the perspectives they reveal about what is really going on in these stories.

Saturday, November 12

9:00 am Service; Abraham in Egypt - A consideration of what this story of temporary exile is doing at the beginning of the Abraham narrative and how it differs from the two parallel sister-wife stories. Followed by a congregational luncheon.

12:45 pm The Covenantal Promise and the Response of Amichai - A discussion of the terms of God's covenantal promise to Abraham, the historical challenges they pose, and Amichai's radical recasting of the promise in his poem, "In the Full Severity of Compassion."

Sunday, November 13

9:30 am Translating the Bible - An agenda for doing justice to the literary power and subtlety of the Hebrew of the Bible, with critical comments on why existing translations have failed to do this.

A graduate of Columbia University and Harvard University, Robert Alter teaches at the University of California, Berkeley. His books include the groundbreaking studies that established the literary approach to the Hebrew Bible. A fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society, he is the recipient of four honorary degrees.

The Lost Book of Moses:
The Hunt for The World's Oldest Bible

In 1883, Moses Wilhelm Shapira, archaeological treasure hunter and Jerusalem merchant, arrived in London, claiming to have discovered the world's oldest Bible scroll. However, French archaeologist Charles Clermont-Ganneau denounced his manuscripts as fake. Humiliated and distraught, Shapira fled the country. Six months later he was dead. In 1947, noting the similarities between the Dead Sea Scrolls and the ones Shapira found, investigators re-opened the case and discovered Shapira's scrolls had vanished. Tigay, a longtime journalist and son of a Bible scholar, set out to find the scrolls and determine Shapira's guilt or innocence.

Sponsored by: B'nai Jeshurun Congregation through the generosity of the Weingold Family. Register at mandeljcc.org or (216) 593-6248.

The Sky is Falling, The Sky is Falling

Rabbi Mordechai Silverstein, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

The Tower of Babel story is unusual. We are not quite sure what the sin was in this episode since it is never stated explicitly. This gave interpreters throughout the generations a chance to weigh in with their pet concerns as to what the sins of that wayward generation might be. I have always found one attempt at defining the sin of that generation particularly interesting for what it says about the modern spirit.

I first want to present a little background. The following midrash presumes that the Flood in Noah's generation was the monumental event in history for the people of the generation of the Tower of Babel and that the sin of the people of Babel was related to the Flood. What was their sin according to Rabbi Eleazar in the name of Rabbi Yose ben Zimra? "They said: 'Once in one thousand six hundred and fifty-six years the firmament totters [and another flood occurs], therefore let's go and build supports [for the firmament, one in the north, one in the south, one in the west, and the one here [in Babylonia] will be the eastern support.'" (See Bereishit Rabbah 38:1) The author of this midrash implies that their sin was in thinking that the Flood was an explainable natural phenomenon which was remediable.

Rabbi Eliezer considered this sin to be quite serious despite its not warranting the death penalty. The punishment was the people to be scattered throughout the world and to speak different languages so that they would be unable to complete their project. In addition, or more importantly for Rabbi Eleazar, they serve as an example to remind everyone of the gravity of their sin.

But what was so grievous about what they did? It sounds ingenious and not sinful. After all, we expect human beings to innovate solutions for the dangers that face them. What could be sinful about that?

The author of this midrash feared the assumption that world events and especially natural events would be considered merely "natural" phenomena which could be tended to as such and not God-determined, providential events granted as reward or punishment for right or wrong behavior.

Was the author concerned that such an idea would alter human behavior or was he worried that such a mindset reflected the idea that God was not involved in the world and that the world had its own natural order independent of God's active participation? In either case, these are questions people still ponder to this day.

It seems to me that it is not a bad thing to operate with these two conflicting mindsets. We should always have in mind that our acts are consequential in God's "eyes" and never lose sight of this idea (bad pun intended). On the other hand, God placed us in this world to use our resourcefulness to improve the created world. Neither of these perspectives should overshadow the other.

Table Talk

Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

Last week we learnt about the creation of the world, and now we read about the destruction of this amazing enterprise because of the corruption of all living things. As life returns after the flood we read about the tower of Babylon and get a first glance at Abram's family.

1) The story of Noah opens with a parallel between the actions of all living things and the actions of God (6:11-13). What are "all flesh" doing? What do you think that means? How does the Torah tell us, through the careful use of language, that God's actions are a reaction to the actions of "all flesh"?

2) How long did the rain pour down on Earth? What other sources of water fed the flood (7:11-12)? For how long did the water continue to rise (7:24)? What thoughts do you think crossed Noah's mind during this time?

3) Following the flood and the destruction, people came together speaking one language and working to build a tower that could reach Heaven (11:1-4). Compare this to the behavior of people before the flood. What has changed? Is their behavior viewed favorably by God (11:5-9)? What might be the reason?

4) Who is Abram's father (11:26-32)? Who are his brothers? One of his brothers died, leaving behind 3 children. Who are they? What happens to each one of them? What does this teach you about the values in this family? One of them is not mentioned again in the story. What do you think happened to her?

5) Rashi (medieval commentator that frequently uses rabbinic sources) says on v. 29 "Iscah - This is Sarah" and proceeds to make linguistic links between the two names. What in the story pointed Rashi to the possibility that Abram married a relative?

Adopt-A-Student Holiday Gift Drive

Each student in our adopted 5th grade class at Stepstone

Academy has provided us with their "Holiday Wish List." If you would like to participate, please contact Shani Kadis. This will include purchasing a gift for your student from his/her list, wrapping it and dropping it off at B'nai Jeshurun by December 9.

Entertainment ($30) and Our Town & All Around books! ($28).

Why buy your books anywhere else? Profits go toward our synagogue and school. On sale now through the Sisterhood gift shop and the synagogue office.

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Shalom (216-831-6555 ext. 104 or dianeshalom@bnaijeshurun.org) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names from their seats.
