The war-weary nation gathered to watch on Israel's only TV channel as the game was played in neutral Belgium. Filmed using rare footage and interviews with team members and sports luminaries, watch Israeli team captain Tal Brody declare, "We are On The Map and we are staying On The Map, not only in sports, but in everything!"

1st Day Rosh Hashanah - Thursday, September 21 and Yom Kippur - Saturday, September 30 • 11 am

Family High Holy Day Service (Halpern Hall)

The power of a family experience can add incredible depth of meaning, particularly at a time that holds so much sanctity. These services, led by Rabbi Josh and Alan Goldweber, will allow adults and children to sit together, pray together, and experience the holy days together.

These family services follow the familiar liturgy with a creative approach, opportunities for participation, and most importantly, many special moments that revolve around the family unit. For this reason, we ask that children who attend these services be accompanied by at least one related adult (or have their child join with a friend's family).

Young Children's Holiday Experience (Gottlieb Auditorium)

This holiday experience combines singing, storytelling, movement, unique project stations and the sounds of the shofar to create an enjoyable holiday experience for families with young children.

Teen Programming for the High Holy Days (6th – 12th Grades)

1st day Rosh Hashanah

Thursday, September 21 • 11 am • Nickman Chapel

Kayla Naticchioni from Providence House will tell us about this crisis nursery committed to child abuse prevention and family preservation.

They are Ohio's first licensed Crisis Nursery and offer free, non-custodial emergency shelter. Since opening their doors 36 years ago, they have served over 8,000 families and they protect nearly 400 at-risk children annually.

Yom Kippur

Saturday, September 30 • 11 am • Nickman Chapel

Guest speaker Ricky Jackson served over 39 years for a crime he did not commit – the longest time in prison of any person exonerated in U.S. history. He was a Cleveland teenager when he was sentenced to death for the murder-robbery of a salesman. The sole evidence against Ricky and his co-defendants was the false, coerced testimony of a 13-year-old boy. No physical or forensic evidence linked any of them to the crime, none of them had any prior criminal record and defense witnesses provided all with credible alibis.

Nevertheless, they were sentenced just months after their arrest, which was later commuted to life without parole. Join us to hear Ricky's compelling story.

Atid Coffee Talk with Frank November

Choose Life! by Ben Richards, Student, the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies, and Conservative Yeshiva Alumnus

I cause heaven and earth to witness upon you today. I put life and death before you, blessing and curse. And you shall choose life, in order that you shall live, you and your offspring" (Deuteronomy 30:19).

This choice presented in parshat Nitzavim is a seemingly straightforward one, choose life and you shall live. Yet it is the statement a verse later (30:20) which is key to the actual process. Choose life "by loving the Lord your God, listening to His commands, and cleaving to Him." The act of "choosing life" involves loving God, and following His rules, and drawing near to Him. What seems to be a seemingly straightforward command becomes significantly more complex when considered in the context of these three commitments.

One of the most well-known pieces of the High Holiday liturgy is the Unetaneh Tokef prayer. It is a prayer that asks the questions of who shall live and who shall pass onto death, and, for the latter, what form such death will take. "Who by fire, and who by water? Who by sword, and who by beast?" But at its end this prayer contains a three-fold formula that is meant to enable us to avert the decrees of death. The three things that can save from death are teshuvah (repentance), tefilah (prayer), and tzedakah (giving charity). The end result of engaging in prayer, repentance, and giving is the same as by engaging in the acts prescribed in verse 30:20 above, for the person who chooses life.

Although seemingly distinct passages, one can find alignment between these two sets of three. Teshuvah, the act of repentance, does seem like a way to demonstrate a love of God (especially relating to repentance directed towards God). Listening to God's commands or voice has an interesting juxtaposition with tefilah, or prayer, which often involves using our voices to call out to a listening God. And the act of tzedakah, reaching out our hand to help another, certainly sounds like cleaving to an "other," and cleaving to God.

By choosing to emulate God in the world, we choose life. Teshuvah, tefilah, and tzedakah are all acts of God, as evidenced by many examples in Jewish tradition. For instance, in Genesis God does teshuvah and promises not to destroy the world again (8:21). The Talmud speaks of how God engages in tefilah and even has His own set of tefillin containing passages about the Jewish people (Berachot 6a). And God gives tzedakah, giving Avraham and his descendants the land of Israel as an inheritance because of His love for His future people.

These are Godly acts, but they are also available to people. They are the methods by which we may be godly and choose life. At times, we must be willing to humble ourselves before others and ask forgiveness, and do teshuvah. At times, we must be willing to cry out in prayer and supplication, and do tefilah. And at times, we must go above and beyond in taking care of one another, and give tzedakah. To strive to do any less is to choose curse instead of blessing. To choose death instead of life.

Table Talk by Vered Hollander-Goldfarb, Conservative Yeshiva Faculty

This Shabbat we will read 2 Parashot, but even when combined they are shorter than many single Parashot. You might find some material especially appropriate for this time of the Jewish year.

- 1) In the ceremony to rectify the covenant with God (28:9-12) Moshe lists all who are participants in this ceremony. What ranks of society are included? What does it tell us about who the Torah considers to be part of the people?
- 2) Should we choose to leave our God and follow those of other nations, we will be thrown out of the land. But that is not the end of the story. According to 30:1-10 what might happen next? Who will take the first initiative? How will God respond? Is this a personal or national Teshuva?
- 3) We are assured that the Mitzvah is not distant and unattainable (30:11-14). What do you think is meant by 'the Mitzvah' in v.11? What do we need in order to be able to observe it?
- 4) In one of his last speeches to the people, Moshe tells them who will go before them to conquer the land (31:3-6). Who is listed first? What is Joshua's role? What will be the people's role?
- 5) Moshe is warned by Hashem (The Lord) that the people will leave Hashem and follow other gods after Moshe's death (31:15-21). Why do you think that Hashem tells this to Moshe (who is about to die)? Does He give Moshe any hope for the future?

Sukkah Decorating Party & Lunch

May He who blessed our ancestors and is the source of all healing bless and heal those who are ill. May the Holy One Praised Be He mercifully restore them to vigor and lift the burden of anxiety from their loved ones and friends.

On this (Sabbath, Festival, Judgment or Penitence) day we pray that they be spared further pain. May God grant them health of body and health of spirit and mind. May we speedily be privileged to greet their return to good health by welcoming them once again into our midst. Let us say: Amen.

Anyone wanting to add a name to the list should contact Diane Shalom (216-831-6555 ext. 104 or dianeshalom@bnaijeshurun.org) by Thursday afternoon at the latest for inclusion in that Shabbat's program. We will also pause during the prayer for people to recite additional names from their seats.
